

CLAIMS

What is claimed in the invention:

1. The fastener is located at the left side of the top wear clothing and extends from the wrist, along the arm pits and down to the side end of the top wear clothing. There will be 1 fastener and no less than 1 and no more than 9 receiving ends placed along the said origins at any one time.
2. The fastener is located at the right side of the top wear clothing and extends from the wrist, along the arm pits and down to the side end of the top wear clothing. There will be 1 fastener and no less than 1 and no more than 9 receiving ends placed along the said origins at any one time.
3. The fastener is located at the left side of the bottom wear clothing and extends from the entire left side of the bottom wear. There will be 1 fastener and no less than 1 and no more than 9 receiving ends placed along the said origins at any one time.
4. The fastener is located at the right side of the bottom wear clothing and extends from the entire right side of the bottom wear. There will be 1 fastener and no less than 1 and no more than 9 receiving ends placed along the said origins at any one time.
5. The fastener is located at the left side of the skirt wear and extends along the entire left side of the skirt. There will be 1 fastener and no less than 1 and no more than 9 receiving ends placed along the said origins at any one time.
6. The fastener is located at the right side of the skirt wear and extends the entire right side of the skirt wear. There will be 1 fastener and no less than 1 and no more than 9 receiving ends placed along the said origins at any one time.

7. For all Claim 1 through Claim 6, the percentage length of the fastener ranges from 0.1% to 100%.